Beaches is next activity, a CPPC favorite, on September 24

For the fourth year in a row, CPPC will be the featured club at the season's last Beaches Cruise-In at Portland International Raceway – Wednesday, September 24.

The event is named for the restaurant in Vancouver which began and still operates the cruise-in to benefit children's charities. It outgrew several venues before landing at Portland International Raceway, every Wednesday evening from June through September.

"Featured Club" means we get to park under the trees, near the bandstand and food tents, and set up a booth for membership and general information about Plymouths.

Because it's the last such event of the year, attendance is high – 1,000 cars is the number that's kicked around on the Internet – and it's a good place to meet potential new members.

Cars from model years 1973 and older (or any model Corvette, Viper, exotic, motorcycle or trike) are welcome on the field: your $5 admission is good for car, driver & passenger. Additional passengers pay $8 per head; so do the folks who park free in the lots outside, and walk in or ride the free shuttle.

Food and beverages are for sale inside, and profits go to charity.

Weather was lovely two years out of the last three. Last year, rain threatened to cancel the event early in the day, but the sun came out just in time.

Jerry and Joanne Dixon are hosts, and will have more information at the September 23 meeting.

Time to start thinking about clothing drive

By Jeanette Dimick

Fall is in the air ... it is still somewhat summery but cool weather will be upon us before too long. That brings me to the clothing drive for the St. Andre Bessette Day Shelter at SW 6th & Burnside, Portland. The homeless folks gather during the day for the few services there are and they can go to the clothing room for clean and dry outfits, shoes, socks, pants, shirts and jackets, etc.

Last year I found wool socks at Andy and Bax's for $4.50 pr. Our Kiwanis club bought 30 pairs.

Please think about cleaning out your closets and bring items to our November Potluck Meeting. They don't have to be perfect...if you donate cash instead I will buy underwear, or you can bring that too.

You have been so generous in the past ... thank you in advance for your thoughtfulness.

Happy ending ...

CPPC member Don Amundson, Auburn, WA, sent an enthusiastic thanks for help in selling the 1937 Ford listed in last issue of our newsletter.

Someone saw the ad on CPPC's website shortly after it appeared. They showed up with cash, and drove the Ford home.

Name, date and place selected for 2015 cruise-in

CPPC's board has decided to go with a familiar name for next year's CPPC-only fundraising event at Clackamas Community College.

They'll be going with the familiar "Annual Hot-Dogust Day," which CPPC used successfully in years prior to 2010 in the parking lot of Haggens, in Oregon City.

The event will be held on August 8, 2015, on the CCC campus.

The Steering Column, A Message from the President

Sadly summer is coming to an end and what a great summer it has been, with very little rain to hamper us from driving our cars, even if it was only to the store. I have enjoyed attending a number of great car events with my P-15 coupe this season with and without club members. However, I find that car events are more fun with my friends from CPPC. For whatever reason, only a small number of CPPC members have been able to attend this summer's tours and events. Those of you who haven't had the opportunity to attend an event have been missed by those who have. There is something about driving down a two lane road among group of old cars that feels sooo good.

Meeting Minutes,

the country to help you restore your old car.

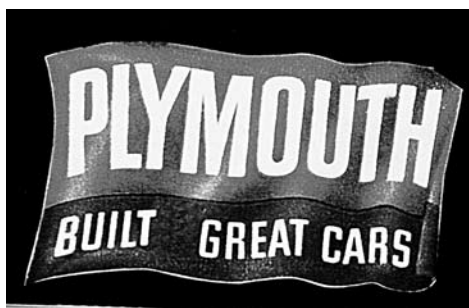

Newsletter/Website: Robin said there were 11 people that contributed to the newsletter last month.

50/50: Robin Will was the winner of the $39.50 share of the $79.00 brought in at the nights meeting.

BINGO was in place of raffle tickets and the car quiz. Don Hufshmidt brought his Bingo game and called numbers. Donna Bade brought prizes for the winners.

The meeting adjourned at 8:35 p.m.

Don Hufschmid reminds CPPC members that he is available to help with DMV paperwork. Give him a call if you have a question about your car's documentation.

At Stevenson we sat huddled under umbrellas but we all had a great time regardless of the fickle weather. There are still several events that CPPC has on our schedule that promise attendees a good time. I have decided to host the tour to Mt. St. Helens so it is back on our list of fun events as fall begins. The date will be discussed at the meeting on the 23rd, probably the second or third week in October. On another note; a number of CPPC member's car projects sit stymied waiting to be finished. The reasons vary from health problems to time constraints. If your project fits in this category, whatever the reason, these projects can come to fruition if you will take advantage of the Tech Committee headed up by Chuck Willis. Helping each other with each other's cars is one of the reasons CPPC exists! The committee has done a terrific job in putting some of our cars on the road (mine included) and they are anxious to help you with your project. Please give Chuck a call. Kyle Kozak of Finish Line Finishes will be our guest speaker this month. He has a unique surface finishing process to show us. I hope to see you there.

Happy Touring

When the tow truck driver gets lost ...

Bill and Dolores Call set out to the Bill Marble celebration driving their police car that's almost identical to the one in the Marble collection.

Mapquest led them to take a wrong turn onto a dead-end road, and in the process of turning around, the car hung up on an obstacle that wouldn't let go.

AAA dispatched a tow truck from Portland, which got lost trying to find them ... and that's how Bill and Dolores spent their Friday evening. They're sorry they missed the ceremony.

CPPC makes strong showing at September 13 Mopar Summit

By Jerry Dixon

On September 13th, Columbia River Mopars held their Mopar Summit at Gresham Chrysler Dodge Jeep Ram Dealership. They had 102 car entries, a new high for this location.

CPPC had seven members attend with five cars. The CPPC cars did quite well with four 1st in class awards, Gary Rusher/30 Coupe, Bill Call/88 Police Car, Jerry Dixon/67 Barracuda, and Herb Watkins/55 Dodge. Jerry Becker and Chuck Willis also attended, and we were visited by member Glen Gordon, from Hermiston, who was in town picking up his 1933 coupe from the paint shop and stopped to check out the show on his way home. We thank our friends with the Columbia River Mopars Club for putting on a fine all Mopar event.

By Tom Nachand

I responded to an e-mailed birthday request after our July car club meeting and eventually met Francine & John Read. Francine wanted to surprise her father on his 93rd birthday with a ride in a vintage Plymouth similar to the 1932 PB he owned in the mid 1940's.

Even though we didn't have exactly what they were looking for my wife and I met with the Reads on August 16th and cleared any concerns with age and mobility after looking over our '33 PD. After a bit of negotiation we settled on our fee for services rendered - a piece of the birthday cake.

On August 31st I drove to Francine's BELOW: Fran Lynch wanted a ride in an old Plymouth for his 93rd birthday, and his daughter emailed CPPC asking if we could help. Tom Nachand responded.

father's home of the past 56 years in the West Hills of Portland and met the extensive family and Fran Lynch, a very sharp long time retired property tax assessor for Multnomah County. It turns out Fran was a bit of a car entrepreneur starting in his early teens. Back in his day Model T's sold regularly for $25 to $50. Of the 100 or so cars he has owned (one at a time) Plymouth products converge at the top. The earliest was his '32 PB along with the more modern 60's slant six Valiants and Signets. The most interesting, to me though, was a 1903 Oldsmobile, its tiller steering, and a couple of leather wrapped wheels sans tires. How would you like to have that as your college transportation? Through introductions from Fran to the great grandchildren, collection of the fee & consumption of the birthday cake, car talk, and fitting in the ride, the afternoon disappeared. I enjoyed the conversation and friendship as much as Fran and his family. It was well worthwhile and enjoyable a time for all.

CPPC helps celebrate Bill Marble's life at Corbett Grange event

Family and friends gathered at Corbett Grange Hall on September 5 to celebrate the life of Bill Marble, who died August 26, 2014, of heart failure.

Bill and his life partner, Mary Eccleston, have been long-time members of Cascade Pacific Plymouth Club, and Bill's flawlessly-restored 1935 Plymouth Coupe, with one of Bill's trademark cowboy hats propped on the spare tire, was parked in front the hall for the ceremony. It was the car that Bill drove back and forth to college.

Bill was born in Hollywood, CA, on January 8, 1958. He graduated from high school in California, and from Oregon State University, with a degree in mechanical engineering, in 1967.

Bill invented a product used in coffee packaging, and was self-employed after 1972, selling and maintaining his product. Bill didn't like airplanes, so he and Mary wore out three motorhomes over the decades, traveling for business and pleasure.

The highlight of Bill's and Mary's senior years was enjoying one of his speeders (railroad vehicles), exploring the back country via rail, and enjoying sights that couldn't be seen from a highway.

Speaker after speaker at Bill's celebration recounted the care he took of his family, friends and neighbors; the energy he put into the community of Corbett; and the fact that he could fix any machine that ever broke – or invent something that worked better.

The event ended with the crowd on their feet, drinking a toast – some with bourbon, some with apple cider – to Bill's memory.

Some folks at the September 5 celebration admitted they had doubts, after seeing the car in pieces, that Bill Marble would ever be able to restore the 1935 Plymouth coupe that he drove to college. Left: the completed car was parked in front of the Corbett Grange Hall for the ceremony. Above: Bill was happy with the restored grille for the '35, and, in ever-present cowboy hat, posed for a picture before he installed it.

CPPC finds rain in Stevenson, sunshine for the Covered Bridge Tour

The pic of Bob Westphal tells us about the weather at the August 30 Show-N-Shine in Stevenson, but we had a good time and stayed until the end. The Dixons' Barracuda was recognized for best stripes, and Herb Watkins' Packard was recognized for Best 40s Car, and also won the Peoples Choice Best of Show award. The Sept. 14 Covered Bridge Tour (jointly with WPC Club), had better weather. Mick and Ruth DeSantis, Bruce Kerslake, Randy & Pam Ealy, Dennis and Jeannie Mowery, and Mike & Donna Bade attended.

Gary Rusher: Success in fighting bad vibrations after 6 years

By Gary Rusher

When I first got my car going (about 6 years ago), it had a bad vibration. This vibration was related to the engine RPM only. I was not affected by speed, road conditions etc. In fact you would get a bad vibration if you were setting still and revved the engine. The vibration occurred while the engine was in compression and slowing. While decelerating from 35 to 25 mile per hour it would nearly shake the car apart.

I did all kinds of things, checked timing, (had the distributor rebuilt, as it had a loose shaft), checked for anything solidly connected from the engine to body or frame (I did find a couple minor things), even took a flywheel and clutch out and had them balanced. I found the front motor mount was bad and replaced it. STILL NO CHANGE IN VIBRATION Thought the front motor mount was it as it was bolted direct though to the frame.

I thought if the front motor mount was bad, well what about the rear ones. Sure enough the one had delaminated itself and the inside plate was sitting on the frame. I had an extra set of plates, so I took them in to a company here in Oregon and had them re-vulcanized. I took out the old motor mounts and replaced them with the rebuilt ones. STILL HAD THE VIBRATION

Over the last few years I have tried anything anyone suggested.

I took the car to the Cruise-In up to the Columbia Gorge Interpretive Center on Saturday, August 30th (about 100 miles each way) and said this is enough. I have to fix these rattles. Well after I got started trying to fix rattles I figured I would try to fix the vibration which caused the rattles.

One of the fellows in our Tech Committee had suggested that maybe the new rear motor mounts were bad. I had kind of dismissed that idea, as they were new.

If you know how the rear mounts are constructed they have a 1/2" rubber sheet vulcanized between two steel plates that have 4 carriage bolts sticking out each side for mounting to the frame and the motor. Well I took out one of the motor mounts today, and sure enough it was bad. Using an ohm meter I found that two of the heads of the carriage bolts hidden in the rubber were in fact touching.

As it so happens I had another set of motor mounts and was able to replace that one with a good one.

I took out the other side mount and it tested OK, but I replaced it anyway.

GUESS WHAT. I took it for a test drive and it was like a completely different car. NO VIBRATION Today I took it up to 50 MPH, previously only dared go to 45 due to vibrations and rattles.

After so many years of fighting it, I think I finally won.

The moral to this story is simple. Just because you just replaced it, doesn't mean it can't be BAD.

PS. I still have a slight engine vibration, probably caused from having the clutch and flywheel balanced. Guess I will still have to pull the engine down and have the crank, rods, pistons and clutch and flywheel all balanced as one unit.
